PAYMENT TERMS
Deposit upfront and balance to be paid on collection unless there is an existing account. All prices are subject to change at short notice due to influence caused by inflation and/or other production costs. Customers are obliged to accept any overruns or underruns within a tolerance of +/-10% of the purchased order quantity. Artworks and rubbers are customer's property. Delivery to carrier must be accepted as delivery to customer.				Artwork Design Approval Process -With assistance from our Sales Rep, the customer shall choose the Designer who will either create or develop the design. An artwork shall be produced clearly indicating the dimensions of the final product and specific pantone codes for colour matching. A sample must be produced where pantones codes cannot be provided. An artwork is a comprehensive layout of the graphic design, which shows what the final product will look like. It accurately indicates where all the type and design elements are to be placed, and what colours they should print. -Rawplast technical personnel must be involved during the design process and artwork development to determine compatibility with our machines. -After proofreading the artwork, the customer will sign it to confirm approval before flexographic plate making begins. NB: Flexographic plates are considered customer property or unless there are any special arrangements agreed.
We confirm that this contract concurs with the specification illustrated above
